

School of Public Affairs Key Undergraduate Leadership Program

Certificate in Key Undergraduate Leadership

CURRICULUM

Year 1

SPA-352 Leadership for Key Undergraduates (1 credit)

This initial course, modeled on Leadership for Key Executives (PUAD-622), provides students with team-building opportunities and establishes cohort norms designed to create an inclusive culture of trust. These early sessions also build a year-one foundation for what will become a career-long support group.

Credit Hour(s): one | Semester: Fall

SPA-353 The Emotionally Intelligent Leader (3 credits)

This course will help students understand the impact of a leader's emotional intelligence on agency/organizational culture, performance, wellness, diversity & inclusion, and other outcomes. Students will learn about the drivers of emotional intelligence and how those drivers align to individual and organizational wellness. Additionally, students will take an emotional intelligence assessment (EQ-i2.0) and receive executive coaching. Students will learn skills to improve their resilience as they navigate life and work challenges.

Credit Hour(s): three | Semester: Spring

Year 2

SPA-354 Contemporary Approaches to Leadership (1 credit)

Students will examine changing conceptions around leadership in recent years and align the role of leadership to complex public administration challenges. Students will build on their year one work in emotional and social intelligence to influence, inspire, and create psychological safety.

Credit Hour(s): one | Semester: Fall

SPA-355 Problem Solving for Leaders (1 credit)

Students will study the methods for gathering and analyzing information that better inform effective and accurate decisions; learn to differentiate among different types of problems (i.e., simple, complicated, complex, and chaotic); and understand the correct leadership tools utilized in developing solutions.

Credit Hour(s): one | Semester: Spring

Vision

The Key Undergraduate Leadership Certificate Program focuses on developing the foundational skills, knowledge, and values needed for future public and non-profit leaders.

Pillars

The Key Undergraduate Leadership Program (Key-U) classes and activities will focus in the following four key pillars:

- Strategy
- Agility
- Connection
- Reflection

Year 3

During the third year, students will start work on an internship assignment or research project focusing on an aspect of public administration leadership.

SPA-356 Key Undergraduate Organizational Behavior (3-6 credits)

Students will learn the drivers of culture, managing the dyadic relationship between supervisors and employees, building productive relationships with peers, and understanding the different types of power influences. These sessions will include guest lectures from prominent Key and SPA alumni and public administration thought leaders.

Year 4

SPA-357 Leadership Reflections (3 credits)

This final course in the certificate program is designed to help students apply what they have learned since year one. The course is based on a particular premise: effective leadership, which is shared, relational, and part of a complex social dynamic involving inquiry and dialogue, is also an ongoing personal journey, requiring expanded cognitive and emotional intelligence.

Credit Hour(s): three | Semester: Fall

Meet the Program Director

Dr. Russell Robinson is the Director of the newly created Key Undergraduate Leadership Program (Key). He is an alum of and Associate Professor within SPA, specifically the Key Executive Leadership Program. His expertise is on public sector leadership with an emphasis on employee voice/silence and employee engagement. He is a frequent guest lecturer and keynote speaker on the topics of the Future of Work, employee engagement, voice culture, resilience, wellness, and diversity & inclusion. Prior to working at AU, Robinson spent 22 years as a civil servant within the U.S. Federal Government, where he developed and taught leadership and culture to all levels of employees.

Hear from an Alum!

My experience with the Key Executive Leadership Program was magical and life-changing. Each class helped me refine how I connected ideas and actions to the current situations that I was confronting within my organization. The courses did more than focus on theory; they focused on real-life scenarios that were relevant to the moment. Through my educational journey at Key, I learned that extraordinary leaders are learning and teaching leaders. They empower those they lead to create more leaders and to make an impactful and positive difference.
